On December 15, 2016, the Board of Directors of Analog Devices, Inc. (the “Company”) approved amendments to the Company’s Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (the “Code”). The amended and restated Code can be found under the Corporate Governance tab of the Company’s Investor Relations website at <http://investor.analog.com>. The purpose of the amendments is to update the Code to reflect business and regulatory developments in order to provide the Company’s employees additional guidance and greater detail about various matters. These matters include:

- the notice of immunity required by the Defend Trade Secrets Act of 2016,
- additional guidance and greater detail about applicable data privacy laws, and
- expressly prohibiting the falsification of data provided to, or interference with, our independent auditors.

The revised Code also reflects technical, administrative and other non-substantive changes designed to update previous provisions.
