

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Analog Devices and Linear Technology Combine to Create the Premier High-Performance Analog Leader

I am delighted to announce today that we have entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Linear Technology, a fellow leader in high-performance analog technology. More information including the press release can be found at our internal microsite for employees.

As many of you know, Linear is recognized for its world class products and technology, engineering excellence and impressive execution in very volatile markets. With this transaction, we will have brought the top three brands in high-performance analog technology – Analog Devices, Linear, and Hittite – under one roof, with an enterprise value of $30 billion.

Linear brings to ADI great strength in many areas, most notably power management, with a major presence in the industrial, automotive, and communications infrastructure markets. As you know, building our technology base is an integral part of our business strategy. The addition of Linear's highly complementary portfolio of products dramatically accelerates our strategy, creating the most complete and diversified high-performance analog company in the industry. The combination of ADI and Linear will enable us to better partner with our customers and deliver best-in-class offerings as the #1 or #2 company across every segment of analog core technology: converters, signal conditioning, RF and microwave, power, and sensors.

Even more important than the strength of our combined product portfolio is the fact that, like ADI, Linear's culture values engineering excellence and a passion for their customers' success. With this combination, we will create a powerhouse of innovation, with a financial platform that allows us to invest in the technologies that solve our customers' most complex challenges while creating great opportunities for our people.

While today's announcement is an exciting one, it is just the first step in this process. I encourage you to visit teams.web.analog.com/adi/quarterlyupdate/adiandlineartgether to learn more about the transaction and what it means for you, our customers and all of our stakeholders.

After today, we will keep you informed of important developments as we make progress toward closing this transaction. Pending necessary shareholder and regulatory approvals, we expect the transaction to close in the first half of calendar year 2017. Until that time, we will continue to operate as independent companies and it will be business as usual – staying focused on providing our respective customers with best-in-class service and solutions to their most critical analog needs.

President and Chief Executive Officer
Analog Devices, Inc.
